DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 01/30/09 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-3 and 5-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nakayama for reasons of record in the Office Action dated 05/29/08, which is incorporated herein by reference in its entirety.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 01/30/09 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to this ground of rejection, applicant asserts that the present claims distinguish over Nakayama due to the recitation that the coverage of the film is from 50% to "less than 100%." The phrase at issue, viz., "less than 100%," is not seen to distinguish over the applied art. As a practical matter, the coating of the applied prior art is not perfectly continuous, owing to pinholes and other defects resulting from deposition, and, accordingly, would cover

Art Unit: 1794

"less than 100%" of the surface. The Examiner notes that applicant's range includes values substantially equal to 100%, such as 99.999999999%. Accordingly, this limitation is not seen to distinguish over the applied art.

5. Moreover, it is well settled that a prima facie case of obviousness exists where the claimed ranges and prior art ranges do not overlap but are close enough that one skilled in the art would have expected them to have the same properties. See MPEP 2144.05, citing Titanium Metals Corp. of America v. Banner, 778 F.2d 775, 227 USPQ 773 (Fed. Cir. 1985). In the present case, the upper range recited in the claims range includes values substantially equal to 100%, such as 99.999999999. Such small differences in the coverage would not be expected to affect the properties of the coating layer and, thus, the properties of the prior art article and that presently claimed would be expected to be the same.

6. Additionally, applicant argues pretreatment versus posttreatment. These arguments regarding process limitations are not considered to distinguish the present claims over the applied prior art. Applicant has failed to demonstrate that any asserted differences produce a materially different article.

7. In light of the above, applicant's arguments have been considered, but are not persuasive.
